

Cosmetic Acupuncture

Facial Rejuvenation

Cosmetic acupuncture facial rejuvenation is a holistic approach to looking and feeling younger. It is an anti-aging alternative to surgery or botox injections. It corrects the body's imbalances instead of masking them.

These techniques improve muscle tone, increase circulation and stimulate the production of collagen and elasticity of the skin thus enhancing facial beauty. In the process, eyesight is improved, sags and wrinkles are reduced. The person can look and feel 5-10 years younger.

Cosmetic acupuncture can also be used for breast enhancement, abdominal toning and reduction of cellulite.

Needle-less methods are also available: microcurrent, facial cupping, laser, Japanese magnets, facial massage, face building exercises, herbal remedies, foods good for the skin, and natural or homemade facial masks and creams.

Acupuncture and Chinese herbs improve tone, increase microcirculation, increase recapillarisation and cell reproduction. Connective tissue is rejuvenated. Fine lines may be entirely erased, deeper lines reduced and bags around the neck and eyes firmed. It's not just tightening the skin on the outside. It treats your entire health, not just your face. You look and feel younger. This method combines full body and facial acupuncture.

Some other benefits of natural facial rejuvenation are: retards hair loss, helps to reduce double chin and lift drooping eyelids, improves metabolism, tightens pores, improves facial color, reduces stress and promotes total health and well-being, improves acne (caused by hormonal imbalance), helps menopause, PMS and other GYN issues, helps sinus conditions and headache, reduces toothache, TMJ, and trigeminal symptoms, helps neuralgia, and Bell's palsy, treats diarrhea and constipation (most digestive issues), helps with edema and puffiness, benefits ears and brain, helps insomnia and dizziness, also alleviates depression and aids self-esteem.

Pamela Bayers, L.Ac., MSOM, Dipl. O.M., Ac., C.H., (NCCAOM), FABORM (ABORM) has been making people look and feel younger for over 18 years. Call 479.582.3300 for more information or to schedule an appointment.